Twelve-Year-Old Williamsburg Lad Charged with Larceny.

James Card, a twelve-year-old Italian boy, who lives at 219 Bedford avenue, was held in the Lee Avenue Court Williamsburg, to-day, on a charge of grand larceny.

Yesterday afternoon Patrolman Relliv saw the boy dodge into Freel's pawn shop on Grand street, and, following him in, found that he was trying to pawn a dezen solid silver tablespoons and forks. As the boy was very poorly dressed, Relliy questioned him, and finally placed him under arrest.

It was ascertained later that the silver had been stolen from the Gorham Manufacturing Company, on Nineteenth street, this city, which has missed a number of valuable articles during the past few months.

The boy's father, Antonio Card, says that he bought the silverware from a Hobrew peddler on the instalment plan. He promised to bring the peddler to court this morning, but he had not arrived when Justice Goetting called the case, him in, found that he was trying to

on His Own Testimony.

Raided Turn the Tables.

The Rev. John L. Soudder, of Jersey

At the hearing to-day Annie Cooley said that Annie Worth, who resides in Port Jervis, was visiting her at the time of the raid, and that if the latter and Doleson had been guilty of improper conduct, it was without her knowledge of conduct, it was without her knowledge of conduct, it was without her knowledge or consent. On this statement she was discharged.

Doleson in his testimony admitted that he had known the Worth women for a number of years. It was shown that Doleson had frequently written to her, asking her to marry him. He hald was going to have the said he was going to have the head can be readed. It was shown, also, that Doleson had a photograph of the girl and returned it after she had been arrested with the following on the back of the photograph: "Heurned to my lost kitten."

Doleson was about to leave the witness stand when Chief Murphy caused his arrest on the man's own admission of improper conduct. Judge Potts held him in $500 bail for trial. The case will woman was held in $200 bail to appear as a witness against Doleson.

Especial to The Evening World.) ELIZABETH, N. J., July 7 .- The Union County Court was packed with sporting men this morning, who were anxious to hear what punishment would be meted out to ex-Fire Chief Nathaniel H. Astfalk and Jacob Reuter for running poker "joints" in the city. John Cree, who pleaded guilty to being a steerer Heuter's place, was also arraigned for sentence Judge McCormick said the Court had deferred sentence in order to investigate how far this evil extended. He was satisfid that a number of other places should have been "pulled" and their proprietors indicted by the Grand Jury.

The Court was convinced that these places existed to the knowledge of the city authorities. Why only two proprietors should be indicted by the Grand Jury was passing strange, and the Court could not understand this. It was the a poker game, but only two indictments were found. Mayor Kankin belongs to the Mattano Club.

It is believed the Court administered this severe slap to the Mayor because it thought he had not exerted himself to bring all the offenders to justice.

WHERE IS MRS. HYLAND?

Horse and Buggy Found, but She's Still Missing.

It was said at 81 South Eighth street, Williamsburg, to-day that Mrs. Alice Hyland had undoubtedly gone away of Hyland had undoubtedly gone away of her own free will.

Mrs. Hyland disappeared from her home on July 4, saying she was going to drive to Prospect Park. Thursday, she made her appearance at D. Sher-lin's livery stable, 112 East One Hundre, and Sixth street, New York, and left-the rig there. This morning it was re-turned to the owner, E. E. Wheeler, of Berry and South Eighth streets, Will-iamsburg.
